Course Title: Federal Data Ethics Framework

Course #: 4611

Duration: 2 Days

Delivery Method: Instructor-led live classroom

Alternative Delivery Methods: Instructor-led online (synchronous)

1. What business or organizational need does this course address?

While opportunities to leverage data continue to expand rapidly, so do potential risks and compliance concerns. As some of the largest collectors and users of data, federal employees must know how to work with and use data ethically. In this course, you'll learn how to apply the federal data ethics framework to all stages of the data lifecycle. Through real-life scenarios and exercises, you'll explore how relevant legal authorities affect the workplace and practice solving common issues that arise when working with data, data subjects, and stakeholders.

2. Who should attend?

This course is designed for data analysts and any other federal employee, contractor, researcher, or grantee who regularly works with data for and on behalf of the federal government.

3. What will I learn how to do in this course?

- Identify the foundations, benefits, and applications of the federal data ethics framework
- Analyze how the relevant legal authorities governing the federal data ethics framework inform the collection, maintenance, and use of data in the federal government
- Identify how to respect and protect the privacy, confidentiality, and rights of data subjects
- Develop strategies for upholding honesty, accountability, and transparency during all stages of the data lifecycle
